

Plunge is ON - Weather Update

Hello Plungers,

We are SO close and the weather is making it even more exciting...welcome to typical March in Vermont!

We've been aware of the current reports for Saturday and have been tracking the weather closely. The Penguin Plunge is a rain, snow or shine event. Unpredictable but not unexpected, and we are ready. The 2022 Penguin Plunge is ON!

We ask that plungers give themselves plenty of time to safely travel to the Burlington Waterfront. We will do our best to stick to wave times, so please do your best to allow plenty of travel time.

If it is unsafe for you to travel:

1. Please let us know
2. Consider celebrating the snow and plunging remotely:

 - Some ideas include doing a snow angel in shorts & a t-shirt, dumping a bucket of water on yourself, having a water balloon fight outside - anything that's fun and safe!
 - You can record your remote plunge and send it to us here:
 - If you have yet to receive your incentives, we will work with you to pick them up next week

No matter your choice we want it to be fun and for you to feel included! You're going to get cold, you're going to get wet and you're going to have a blast whether at the waterfront or at home.

Thank you for all your incredible fundraising efforts - this morning we are at 96% of our fundraising goal! You are making a tremendous impact for athletes across the state of Vermont.
